

Susan G. Komen for the Cure
 African American Community Partnership Breast Health Initiative
A Circle of Promise Kickoff

Bury the Silence; Raise Your Voice

You are invited to this FREE community kick-off event to engage African American women, men and families to help save lives through early detection of breast cancer. Breast cancer survivors and their families are encouraged to attend and Raise Your Voice!

Sunday, October 23, 2011

Mark your calendar now!

1:30 – 4 pm

Pacific Cost Campus Quad of Long Beach City College

PCH & Orange Avenue

1305 Pacific Coast Highway, Long Beach

FREE PARKING

1:30 – 4 pm: Visit, learn and enjoy our five pavilions:

Circle of Promise Community & Breast Health Resource Pavilion

Pink Out Long Beach Pavilion

Raise Your Voice Testimonials Pavilion

Worship In Pink Pavilion

Bury the Silence Craft Pavilion

2:45 pm: Kick-off Program with radio, television, sports and music industry celebrities

3:00 pm: New Orleans-style Second Line

You can be a part of Long Beach's largest New Orleans-style Second Line, complete with music, hankies, parasols and beads as we raise our voices to celebrate survivors of breast cancer. Let's bury the silence to protest the stigma, fear and silence that keep African American women from getting regular mammograms and early detection to save lives.

To reserve your parasol, contact Young Communications Group, Inc. at 213.738.9240.

A Circle of Promise event sponsored by Susan G. Komen For the Cure® African American Community Partnership Breast Health Initiative in collaboration with the Komen Los Angeles County and Orange County Affiliates.

